

Understanding the AZ-104 Exam

The AZ-104 exam, also known as Microsoft Azure Administrator, is designed for professionals who have experience managing cloud services that span storage, security, networking, and computing in Microsoft Azure. AZ-104 Exam Dumps The exam measures your ability to perform various tasks, including implementing and managing storage, configuring and managing virtual networks, managing Azure identities and governance, and more.

Here's a breakdown of what you'll encounter on the AZ-104 exam:

- Manage Azure identities and governance (15-20%): This section covers Azure Active Directory, user management, and role-based access control.
- Implement and manage storage (10-15%): This involves managing storage accounts, blob storage, file shares, and backup solutions.
- Deploy and manage Azure compute resources (25-30%): Here, you'll deal with virtual machines, Azure App Services, and containerized applications.
- Configure and manage virtual networking (30-35%): This includes configuring virtual networks, subnets, and network security groups.
- Monitor and backup Azure resources (10-15%): This includes monitoring the health of resources and implementing backup and recovery strategies.

The AZ-104 exam is crucial for anyone who wants to work as an Azure Administrator. Achieving this certification will not only validate your technical skills but also position you as a credible professional in the Azure cloud space.
