CHAIRMAN PRESS CLUB Farewell Speech,

Nyeri Technical Training Institute

Good evening, Ladies and Gentlemen! I Salute you all because you deserve it, i feel happy if not excited, I feel blessed if not honored. But all in all I do thank you, greatly for having presented yourselves in person.

Off goes my hat for all those, who have fully and devotedly participated in making this day and more specifically this evening a success of some significant to us who are leaving.

I cant fail to hail our patron a Mr. Ngatia who have all through had been a phase of reference for us whenever we needed guidance were it not for him may be what we have achieved would been a another case.

Also Bravo goes to the in Coming Chairman and his team for all they have done up to this hour.

Its true our time is gone, "hatuna budi kuigaa Nyeri tech" but *t*he most painful thing to me is that, I am leaving the Press Club which l loved just too dearly. However I appreciate one thing all the same; that is, the end of one thing means the beginning of another.

Ladies and gentlemen, you will let me to address our newly recruited writers in making as i address the old as well, plus those who have taken the mantle of leadership.

We who are going, have struggled, we have fought endless battles, we have won and we lost but the good thing is that all this has constituted the little or big success that w are seeing. But now we are gone, all challenges lies in your hands. We have handed over the button of responsibilities to you. Run to win the race.

My dear colleagues, you will agree with me that maybe in the course of
