

A Break From Church

A break in intimacy is a break from church. We are the church, not necessarily those who goes to a physical place of worship, but rather, those who are born of God's spirit and living in Him, a progressive life of intimacy.

The church can never be shutdown, of course the place of gathering can, but the church is spiritual and it is the body of Christ with many members having different role to play. We have different role to play in the body of Christ, but I must say most of us born of God's spirit haven't yet recognized what member of Christ's body they are. Meanwhile, that's a different aspects, " Kingdom." We'll be looking at the general aspect; " a true act of worship."

The spiritual church, cannot be shutdown. However, a break in relationship is a break in church. We born of God are the church, and we are living sacrifices unto God which is our true act of worship.

We are to worship God always, every second of our lives, because He has designed us, a living sacrifice. Our heart is His temple, are we are to keep the alter burning at all time as the Israelites did. Our hearts is the alter of God, therefore; a break in intimacy, is a break in rendering offerings, and a break in rendering offerings is a break in worship, where there is no worship the presence of God departs.

If you break in praising and thanking God always in your heart, if you break in communion with Jesus, talking with Him always in your heart, praying to build Intimacy, if your heart does not meditate on God always, then you've been taking frequent break from church every time you've done this. The moment you break, you've excused yourself from God's presence.

Meanwhile, the worship still goes on, because you're not the only one on earth who appears in heaven. Whenever we strike the chord of Intimacy in our heart, we appear immediately in heaven even while on earth, then you begin your Journey, a Journey closer to God's throne. Those who spend more time with God in heart, they'll get closer to God's throne in time than those who often take break and appears back on earth. There are many of us, heaven don't know us, because we barely appear there, and even if we do, we're at the far end from God's throne.

What member of the body of Christ you are will be revealed unto you when you have gotten closer to the throne of God. You'll begin to hear what God has for you, because you're close enough. Your true purpose in God will be unveiled and you'll do everything to live in fulfillment of that ordination (your eternal purpose).

Many think is about taking care of the physical building, well, that's well and good, but that isn't your true and eternal purpose. That's just a normal thing as you would normally take care of your house.

The hearts of men have being unveiled before men, if you break in relationship, if you break in intimacy, you've locked yourself out of the church temporarily or eventually permanently if you persist in doing so.

Those who are wise won't restrict their worship to Sundays only, rather they would become a living sacrifice unto God. It is now true worshipers will be revealed and judged. He that has an ear let him hear.
