Direction 0ne: Reading passage and comprehension

The Whale is not a fish

The shape of a whale is like a fish. It also live in water like a fish as people thought that the whale was a fish. This is not so. Both whales and fish breathe in oxygen in different ways.

Fish breathe the oxygen in water through gills. Whales have to stick their heads out of the water to breath in oxygen from the air. They breathe in through blowholes.

Those are like our nostrils. Fish are cold-blooded. Their body temperature becomes hotter or colder depending on the surrounding. Whales are just like Human beings ; their body temperature remains the same when it is cold or hot outside.

Most fish lay eggs. Whales give birth to their babies. Whales have smooth bodies. Fish normally have scales on their bodies. When whales swim, their tails go up and down swish from side to side.
