Bird is an animal with feather. All birds have feather and they are the only animals that have them. But, when people think of birds, they usually think first of their flying ability. All birds have wings. The fastest birds can reach speeds well over 100 miles (160km) per hour. No other animals can travel faster than bird. However, not all birds can fly. For example, Ostriches and Penguins are flightless. Instead of flying, Ostriches walk or run. They use their wings only for balance. Penguins swim. They use their wings like flippers

People have always been fascinated by birds. Their marvelous flying ability makes them seem to be the freest of all animals. Many birds have gorgeous colors or sing sweet songs. The charms of birds have inspired poets, painters and composers. Certain birds also serve as symbol. People have long regarded the owl as a symbol of wisdom and the dove as a symbol of Peace. The eagle has long represented political and military might. The bold eagle, which lives only in America, is the national symbol of the United States.
