

This is a document filled with a small collection of some of my recent field reports.

With them, you get an inside look at how I put the MWWY System to use.

You'll also find all kinds of important lessons, tips, exact things you can say to seduce and more.

At the end of each field report, I also make a list of all my most important takeaways, the things I learned from the interaction or were reminded of and really want to remember/internalize.

Enjoy.

-Jason Capital

Field Report from last night

Awwwww man.

I, Jason Capital, write to you today BUTT-HURT.

Well, at least if I had tried to write this email last night I'd be writing you butthurt...now it's kind of nothing.

(Which is the point of this email! We'll get to that in a sec.)

Here's what happened:

I'm out last night in Santa Monica on Main St.

I'm at a certain bar in the corner booth, talking closely with this spicy, smiling hispanic siren.

She's funny and confident and finds my arrogant humor a huge turn-on (shocker).

(For all the guys wondering how I opened, I said "Hi, I'm Jason.")

I could tell it was on within a couple minutes of talking her too.

When you step to a girl the right way..

With that strong, piercing eye contact..

With the deep, calm, relaxed vocal tonality..

With that positive, playful, just-a-little-too-cocky smirk..

..she's going to be attracted.

Remember: Attraction is not a choice.

It's involuntary.

It doesn't matter if she has a BF or husband.

Her ATTRACTION, just like yours, is involuntary.

Don't fight it, just accept: It's hard-wired.

I want to hammer this home so think closely about it:

When you see a girl that's your type, aren't you instantly attracted to her?

I'm not implying you'd sleep with her or wife her up, but you're attracted instantly.

It's involuntary, it happens instantly and it feels GOOD.

Females are no different, except what's attracting them is what you SUB-COMMUNICATE.

Your eye contact, your body language, your voice, your energy, your fashion and so on all sub-communicate specific things about you to her, and if you're sub-communicating the right things, she feels attracted... just like you do.

What are those "right things"?

Some you already know: Dominance, Nonneediness, Self-Love (me and Wygant have been talking about this one a lot lately), Playful, Bold, Self-Validated, Free, Leader and so on.

Obviously she doesn't go through this "is he fvckworthy" checklist in her mind but it happens on a subconscious, INVOLUNTARY level.

And in an instant, she's ATTRACTED.

Like I said: It doesn't matter if she's already with someone, her being attracted to you is not her choice (but of course, choosing to actually act on it and sleep with you is).

Back to the story.

We're in the corner booth.

She's telling me about her craziest sexual experience (backseat of a car on a Mexican highway).

We're playing with each other's hands as she talks.

I'm interlacing our fingers, then throwing them away, then bringing her hand back and putting it on my knee, slowly moving it up my thigh as she talks.

I accuse her of trying to rape me right then and there.

She giggles then says, "I have to go to the bathroom... Come with me."

My first thought is, "Who does this girl think she is? That's MY line."

My second thought?

OK.

So we get to the bathroom and there's a long ass line for the girls. We're making out as she waits in it, then right before she gets in, I tell her I can't come in with her but I'll see her in a second.

I did that because there was no way I was gonna be able to hook up with this girl in that bathroom without getting kicked out (and this is a place I like to go to - the staff loves me and hooks it up there).

So I figure, I'll see her in a second, and she'll want it more because I just took it away.

I go back to where we were, and start chatting with some people nearby.

She comes back a couple minutes later. She's relieved to see me. I get physical right away again. Escalate and release, escalate and release.

I have her up against the wall. She's whispering in my ear. In this moment, I love this girl.

I'm covering logistics now. She's from SF, but staying at a hotel near LAX. She has a friend who can take us both there "because I'm starving and I demand a woman feed me tonight".

Great.

And here's where the heart shatters.

I'm leading her outside, when a friend notices me on the street and her friend calls her back in to the bar for a second. I say what up to my friend for two minutes, turn around....and she's gone.

Her friends too.

Like it never happened.

AAARGRGRHHHH@#^@&@&#&#!!!!

Lol.

Dude....I fvked up.

I'm going to cover 3 things I did well, and 3 things I could have done better (and will next time).

1. The way I opened her made it "on" for both of us from the get go.

The tonality, the eye contact, the cocksure grin....

And her open, feminine energy.

Deida would have been proud of all the Masculine/Feminine energy between us, polarity at its finest.

2. Verbal game was free-flowing consciousness, and gold was just spewing out of my mouth.

I can usually get pretty close to this, but sometimes its just the most effortless thing in the world.

At one point, I spewed:

"You have weird thumbs. Let me see. <grab her thumbs> Oh nevermind, they just looked weird. Are you good at thumb war? I'll kick your ass. I don't want to brag or anything, but I am the two-time defending state champion of thumb war. If you cheat, I'm gonna make you buy me TWO drinks etc etc."

Sweeeeeeeeet.

3. I went right into the Question Game when I felt ready to connect (which is my favorite game to play for that purpose) and did the hand-playing thing the whole time we were playing.

It was cute and shit.

Then I got her sharing about her hottest sexual experiences and it was really on.

Here's what I could have done better:

1. Future-paced what we were going to do later that night.

This is a tadpole compared to what #2 is, but still important.

I should have at some point started whispering in her ear, describing all the things I'm going to do to her, what we were going to do later that night, etc.

I wanted her brain to imagine it, and to see/feel/connect with it before it actually happened.

2. Get her PHONE NUMBER AND FACEBOOK early on.

I have a rule:

Get every girls number in the first 5-10 minutes of talking to her, no matter what.

You never know what's going to happen.

I broke my rule last night.

Several times during the conversation, she was like, "Wait, take my number. Add me on Facebook."

Unfortunately, my iPhone was acting up and I didn't take it then.

And then later when it was working, she was already gone. Fvck.

Rule #76: No excuses. Play like a champion.

I should have written it down, and given her mine.

Lesson re-internalized.

3. Letting her out of my sight at the end of the night.

When it comes to the pull, you don't let your girl get away from you. EVER.

Social conditioning has most girls COMPLETELY DISSONANT.

They want to go on the adventure with the awesome guy they just met, but they don't want to look or feel slutty.

So at the end of the night, they may try all kinds of things to throw themselves out of state.

Really think about how ridiculous and illogical this one:

Every inch of their being wants to sleep with you, and their logical brain is losing the battle.

But if they can do something so every inch of their being DOESN'T want to sleep with you, and they can give the logical brain a chance to comeback and with the battle, they will.

One of the most common methods for doing this is letting their friends talk them out of it (see: cockblocking).

In the end, I was just a guy she had met 30 minutes before (and based on some of the things she said, I'm pretty sure she had a boyfriend back in San Francisco - sorry dude if you're reading this lol).

It's part of the game that sometimes, her friends are going to try and keep me and her away from each other.

Letting her go to say what up to someone I knew was a rookie mistake, and I knew it the minute I did it.

GRRRRRRRRRRRRR.

So anyways, had I written this last night, I would have been all butthurt.

Not because I lost a girl, but because I lost THAT girl.

Here's the cool part though, and what I mentioned at the start of this:

A few years ago, I'd let this affect me for days.

But as I've built up the SKILL-SET of attracting and vibing and seducing women, my sexual abundance is higher than ever.

If I want to go out and get a girl, I can do it almost anytime I want.

I say this not to brag but because I want you to know..

If you've ever been hurt by a girl or gone through any pain like that, it only lasts 100X longer if you don't have the skillset built up.

But when you do have the skillset built up, you feel right into the pain and it goes away almost instantly. Like I woke up this morning feeling great. Everything I really felt last night...gone and replaced with an abundance of positive energy, about my business, these books I'm reading right now, my upcoming trip to Medellin and so on.

PLUS THE FACT THAT I STILL KNOW I CAN GET ANOTHER AWESOME GIRL TONIGHT IF I WANT TO.

Like I couldn't even feel butt hurt for more than a couple hours if I wanted to anymore. And that's regardless of how long I've been with the girl.

My point is this:

To get the girl you want, you need to be able to get girls on her level consistently.

If you can't, you'll always be coming from a place of scarcity with her, thinking that you can't do better and she'll feel that. BUILD UP THE SKILLSET, always.

Keep working on your game.

Don't just get that one girl, and stop reading and learning.

Be a lifetime STUDENT of game.

Be a lifetime student of male/female dynamics.

Be a lifetime student of sex.

Ok, that's about 500 more words than I wanted to write.

I've got some reading I want to do, then it's off to the gym.

Later man.

-Jason

Hank Moody and the Cuban Sexpot.. (new field report)

All right, let's recap Saturday night for you.

SPOILERS: This field report ends in bathroom sex.

Out again in Santa Monica.

Saturday nights are usually my time to rock the fvck out on the dance floor, and put some work in there.

Me and my roommate get to the club.

Empty but its early.

We throw back a couple shots of tequila and banter/chat with the bartender (she's a friend).

Place gets filled up quickly.

I talk to the girls next to me. They're silly (or maybe they're silly cuz I'm being silly).

Probably the second.

Some girls handing out shots of Jack Daniels come by. I don't take the drink but talk to one of the girls.

She's from Venezuela and really my type. I ask her if she speaks español. She does.

I tell her I'm moving to Colombia next month (Medellin) and have been working on my pickup lines in Spanish. She giggles. She wants to hear my best. I say, "No....you're not my type. I can't start hitting on you now."

She laughs again, hits me on the arm and says, "Noooooo...I wanna hear it."

Fine.

(This interaction was going nowhere in my opinion, these girls hired by the liquor companies to hand out shots are usually really arrogant from all the external validation they're getting, from being hired because of "their looks" to walking around, talking to every guy in the venue and having every single one directly hit on them - remember, most guys out there STILL have no game. Like 99.9%.. I've hooked up with a couple of these girls but the effort of chasing them around the club all night is bad form, and never really worth it anyways.)

But I tell her my line anyways. She cracks up. Tells me it's really good and it's going to work really well out there.

I think, Yeah chick, tell me something I don't know. Lol.

We fluff for a couple minutes then I tell her she should go get back to work. She leaves, I decide if she re-opens me later ALONE without the other girls, I'll pursue. Otherwise, no dice. This place is getting filled up, and I see a rambunctious Cuban girl on the dance floor.

I go over there, make eye contact and hold out my hand. She grabs. The dance begins.

After 3 songs or so, we're making out on the dance floor and she's talking about my dick.

This is a girl who's a personal trainer and has guys calling/texting her all the time, guys who have been chasing her for weeks but gotten nowhere BECAUSE THEY DON'T UNDERSTAND GAME AND HAVEN'T TAKEN THE TIME TO LEARN IT. It's only been 15 minutes with us.

I just love meeting these girls who are so constrained by the daily judgements and expectations of society. It's really ridiculous and kind of sucks how our society has been set up this way to make girls feel like they always have to be worried about what their friends or parents or whoever are thinking about them.

They just want to have fun, they love sex, they love tension, they love being touched and teased. And it's rare they get to express that side of their personality because of the societal shackles. Fortunately, that's where I come in...I like to think of myself

(and all my guys out there in Game Nation going at it hard) as freeing these girls, and through our actions and words, giving them permission to get as crazy as they want and let it all out.

So anyways. Back to my dick. haha.

I start whispering in her ear, asking her, "What would you wanna do with my dick right now?"

She starts telling me some nasty shit, I tell her I'm not sure she can handle it. She's going passion-crazy.

I slam her against the wall, brush a strand of hair behind her ear and stare her down.

I don't have an awesome name for this move yet, but I find I do it every time I can feel that a girl is getting super turned on and I want to cement the close.

I get really dominant and physical with her, and make laser eye contact with her, sliding deep into her soul. You can see their pupils get huge when you do this, and it's like this sub-communication of "I had 10 other girls in here I could have fvcked tonight, but I'm selecting you, right now. You're mine, and I'm yours tonight."

We go back to the normal cycle of grind --> kiss --> bite --> throw away/release for a few more songs, then the club turns off the music and is closing.

I tell her, "I can still hear the music," pull her in and we keep making out. I pull back. "Let's go."

I grab her hand and lead her out of the club. There's a food truck right nearby and a bunch of people (including her friends) getting food right there.

I post up against the wall and bring her in. We're going at it really hard right now, putting on quite a show for all these mofos watching nearby. In case you couldn't tell, I have no issues with public expressions of sexual tension at 2:30 in the morning.

I bring her body into mine so no one can see where her hands are. I take her hand and put it down my pants. She goes wild. (If I can, I will almost always have her escalate on me, by putting her hands in certain places or telling her to bite my neck, etc. The physical act of her moving on you signals back to her subconscious that physically she MUST have you, via the commitment/consistency principle. Plus, she's so used to guys moving on her and having no understanding of sexual tension so this type of shit blows her fvcking mind.)

Her friends want to go. They keep yelling at us. She drove everyone. I ask her where her car is. A block away, she says. I say, "OK, we're going to get the car, we'll be right back."

We turn the corner, out of sight of everyone, and I immediately pull her in. I've got my fingers inside of her, she's stroking my dick, moaning.

I get her to her car. She blows me in the backseat for a couple minutes. This night is officially awesome.

We go get her friends (who I talked and joked around a lot with earlier, now watch how this came back to help me).

One of her friends just picked up this chode off the street. He's telling everyone he's got liquor and a place to dance at his house. He comes in the car with us, and we're going to his house in Venice.

(BTW, I don't think theres anything like random public hook ups around Venice that could make me feel more like Hank Moody. Lol.)

On the way, one of the friends doesn't want to go to this guys house. I'm telling him it's going to be awesome, but he's being ghey. The other friend just goes, "Look we're going to his house right now. You can stay in the car if you want..".

We get to the house. The dude stays in the car.

We get inside. Turn the music on immediately, and me and my girl are on the couch dancing and hooking up. I think to myself, God I want to fvck this girl. I take her in the kitchen and throw her on the table. Chaos ensues. I take her off the table and she gets down on her knees and starts blowing me again.

The party is 8 feet away in the living room. I think to myself, God

I love adventure.

I pull her up and tell her I have to go to the bathroom and that I want her to watch.

I take her by the hand, lead her in there and lock the door shut. We rip each others clothes off, I slip a condom on and bang her all over the place in the bathroom.

We walk out, hands still all over each other, take everyone else and leave.

She drives me home.

I hear banging coming from my roommate's bedroom. Turns out he brought a girl home too.

Awesome night.

Let's break down all my takeaways from the night.

1. I wouldn't have banged this girl if not for her friend finding that dude and making sure we got to his house.

If you still see the friends as cockblocks, LET IT GO. I see everyone as there to support me. How would you treat and interact with people you knew were there to SUPPORT you? So that's why I always joke and tease and laugh and talk with the friends. They end up loving you, and then do what they can to help you get the girl that night.

Always be awesome with the friends.

2. The essence of pushing for the same-night close while still being totally nonneedy the whole time is an art form, and something every guy can learn.

I kept pushing further and further, but always TAKING IT AWAY at the right moments, with some type of release (verbal or physical).

This builds sexual tension at light-speed. You always want to release or throw her away after you escalate. Push and pull, escalate and release.

Also, there was a point where she didn't want to comply with something I wanted, so I just said, "OK, I'm leaving then," and got up to walk away. She flipped, grabbed me in and complied. Always be willing to walk away.

3. Having her physically escalate on me, from putting her hands everywhere to telling her to bite me here, or bite me there.

If you're not doing it this way after you guys makeout for the first time, you're fvcking up.

4. I was always aware of where her friends were and what they saw us doing, and didn't escalate further until we were out of sight.

And remember, that's not perfectly out of sight or anything. She blew me in a parking lot, kitchen and bathroom. There was still an element of danger and getting caught, which in turn makes the whole thing that much hotter for her and me.

5. I constantly led the interaction, from start to finish. She was constantly reacting to everything I was doing. As Owen Cook would rightfully say, "Be the CAUSE, not the effect."

Even if you're doing almost nothing right but you've got the girl reacting to you, she's going to be attracted.

6. After we made out, I told her, "You don't even wanna know what I'm thinking about doing to you right now." This of course, led her into begging me to tell her and you can probably use your imagination from there.

I use this line almost every time after making out with a girl. I got it from my boy Jon Sinn, and it's like a verbal roofie. Lol.

Actually, if you haven't been through this program of his (where he talks about that line, and all of his other awesome shit), you definitely should right now. Here's the link (and don't just buy it and not go through it. Actually USE IT, because it works. Thanks).
[<http://www.automateyourwebsite.com/app/?Clk=4925707>]

Let me know you got a lot out of this, a bunch of you hit me up yesterday about the "Butthurt Field Report" and I appreciate that.

I kind of write these for me as much as you, just so I can go back through them, re-read them, internalize the lessons etc but I know if I had access to this kind of insider info when I was younger, it would have been sick.

I'm off to the gym, then got some reading I wanna get done. I'm gonna re-look over Sinn's sexual framing stuff, then re-read the Power of Now.

Your life = your creation. Build it how you want.

-Jason

How To Compliment A Female

Do you know the right way to give a girl a compliment?

We've been working on the new Jason Capital blog, and it's finally almost ready. I've been thinking a lot about what I want the first big blog post to be about..

And I think I want it to be on something totally unexpected.

What's the one thing you never do with a girl you like?

Put it in the backdoor without telling her first. Duh. Haha.

For serious though: A lot of 'gurus' out there would say to never compliment her.

And I wouldn't fully disagree.

Early on, in the first 5-10 minutes or so with a girl, I do not compliment a girl.

My inner game rationalizes that I have not known her long enough at that point to have any idea if she's the kind of girl deserving a compliment.

My outer game rationalizes that girls always start chasing when I tease and withhold validation.

Either way...WIN-WIN.

BUT...to never compliment her would be a HUGE MISTAKE.

And would mean you're going to miss out on a whole lot of fun, deep, powerful intimacy with her later on.

So that's what I think I'm going to do the first blog post on.

"How To Compliment A Girl The RIGHT Way.."

It's gonna be long and thick and full of life-changing goodness inside.

Just like my....ahaha. I'm silly.

It'll be huge though, and enormously helpful.

If you've ever looked at how most of the top bloggers do it, you'll notice that it seems to be split up into two camps.

On one side, you have the guys who blog every single day, but because they're churning out content with such frequency, their blog posts are shorter and for the most part...good but not great.

MarksDailyApple.com is one that comes to mind here.

Then you have guys who blog much more infrequently but when they do, their content is deep, long and GREAT, not good.

FourHourWorkWeek.com/blog comes to mind here (what up Tim if you're reading this one).

They both have their pros and cons, but I think I'm gonna go more towards the Tim Ferriss style, which means this compliment blog post and the others will be FVCKING AWESOME, but my schedule will only allow me to post them every once in a while.

So anyways. I didn't just write you today to tell you my thoughts on the current climate of the blogosphere.

Here's a quick tip for complimenting a girl, one that will be definitely included in said blog post:

Compliment her as she wants to be seen, not necessarily as she is.

All women have an idealized self-image of themselves that they aspire to be seen as.

The more your compliments can imply that you see her this way (or even better, you can see this version of her deep inside), the better.

If a normal, bland compliment makes her feel good or ok or whatever..

A compliment given this way will make her FEEL ECSTATIC.

For instance, let's say a girl is a server right now, we've been flirting for a while, she's attracted and now we're just kind of getting to know each other and she's telling me how she really wants to travel the world and write about it.

Will she ever actually do that? Probably not. Most people unfortunately lack the self-delusion needed to go after what they truly want.

But I compliment the version of her she secretly aspires to be, not who is in front of me.

So maybe she'll tell me about her dream to visit the Greek Isles and write about her adventures, and I'll say..

"I know we're in a normal restaurant here just talking, but even so...I can just see the zest for life you have coming out of every word you say, every smile you make. It's really important to me that all the people I keep in my life have that insatiable quench for life and adventure, and I can see that you might too. It makes me believe you're gonna be a really talented travel writer one day, with a really unique perspective on things."

Now THAT is a compliment.

And it's hitting on her idealized self....not the subpar version in front of me.

There's obviously a lot more going on here too but I'll cover that in the bloggery.

For more on making any female you like WANT you, watch this Einstein video now [<http://www.makewomenwantyounow.com/vsl/einstein.php>] or pick up my book revealing the whole process here [<http://www.makewomenwantyounow.com/order.php>].

If you've already read MWWY and want to lock down an amazing girlfriend long term, this video is a must. [<https://thesocialyou.infusionsoft.com/go/gfasvsl/jcapital/>]

Peace man.

-Jason

San Francisco FIELD REPORT

Start: We made eye contact across the room.

Finish: Two hours later, she was telling me how badly she wanted me inside her again, as were taking a shower together in my hotel bathroom.

How'd this one go down? Let's recap it right now, in this San Francisco edition of my latest field report.

I'm here in San Francisco right now for a marketing thing.

I know some of the guys on the list have an interest in Internet Marketing too, so if you're out here, come find me and say what up.

Anyways, back to pussy.

We're at the hotel bar and it's packed.

Oh, by the way, this field report contains an awesome lesson on SOCIAL CONDITIONING and how to use it your advantage too.

So it's packed here, mostly dudes as these events usually are.

There's a couple pro's there too (I talked to one of them about penis size for a few minutes, she was laughing her ass off. It's always been a goal of mine to get one of them to pay me to fvck them, so maybe one day soon you'll be reading one of these field reports soon and it'll be about that).

I get in, see a couple people I know, talk random shit for a little bit then I see her.

I'm honest: Not the HOTTEST girl I've ever hooked up with, but she's got a tight body, awesome eyes and turns out to be almost as smart as a man, so I'm totally intrigued.

(Just kidding about the man thing. Obviously. Maybbeeeeezzzzz.)

I catch her eye, hold it and then walk over.

Key point: Always focus on going to talk to the girls you want to immediately.

There should be no delay between feeling you want to go talk to her, and going to talk to her.

There will never be a perfect moment or opportunity so just go and adapt on the fly.

I say, "Hi, I'm Jason. Who are you?"

She's Indian. Has an impossible to pronounce name.

I make fun of her for it and tell her I'm just going to call her "L".

She says her name starts with an "N".

Perfect.

I cold read her a little, sharing her what my instincts are telling me about her and I guess her age.

Spot-on.

Schwing.

My friends come over and I introduce them real quick, then I tell her what our amazing plan is.

Basically, this hotel charges like $14,000 per drink and I fvcking love only spending my money on travel and self-education, so we stopped at a liquor store on the way and grabbed a couple tequila shooters.

Yes, that's right. Classy Jason Capital walked in packing HEAT :)

So I tell her we're going to the bathroom area to be bad, and take these shots, and have a tequila party.

Now I want you to think about this:

We're at a classy San Francisco hotel and there are a couple hundred people there, most of them 6- and 7-figure Internet Marketers.

If you think money makes a difference in who's going to hook up with her, listen closely.

I TELL HER we're going to be bad... we're going to have a tequila party.. we're going to have way more fun than these stuffy squares taking up space here.

Which party do you think she chose to hang with?

Social conditioning would tell you she'd stay where the money and prestige was.

But REALITY will reveal to you she's going where the adventure, excitement and certainty is.

So she rolls with us.

We go in the back, do a couple shots and I tell her "Let's go over there (couches), where it's quiet so we can talk."

I lead her over there.

She shares with me her goals and hopes and dreams and fears, and I reciprocate.

Our faces our inches apart.

We connect.

It feels good.

Thirty minutes later, our group wants to go to a nearby lounge, so we roll.

Of course she comes.

On the way, we see the tram go by.

She says something about never having been on one.

Immediately, I say, "OK, fvck the lounge, we're taking a ride."

I grab her hand, tell everyone "later" and jump on the tram with her.

Alone and riding the cable car across the city at 1 AM, we start going at it hard on there.

We ride all the way to the end there and she's super turned on.

We get off and we're hooking up in the middle of the street.

Cars are flying by. We're dangerous.

I pull her behind a backdoor to a restaurant, where we're like half-hidden.

I start fingering her there, she's moaning and going crazy.

She rips my pants off and starts blowing me right there.

On the street.

It's still light out.

Wow.....I'm impressed.

We do that for a little, then I'm like "I need you alone, in my hotel room. Now. We're going."

I flag a cab, ride to my hotel, carry her from cab to elevator, lead her to my room and throw her down on my bed.

Glorious times are had for all, and we finish up with a hot shower together.

Cool. I salute you, San Francisco. You are wise beyond your years.

So what were my takeaways from this night out?

Here's what I got:

1. LEAD, LEAD, LEAD.

Throughout the night, I was leading everything for us with total playfulness
AND certainty.

Everything's about fun. HOW CAN I MAKE THIS MORE FUN? is a question I'm often asking myself.

(Shout out to Natural Tim for that one.)

When you're the one leading, she can relax, let her hair down and not have to worry about anything.

She can just let go and have fun, knowing you've got shit handled.

Leading is also a highly attractive quality, and inherently makes her reacting to you, which is how YOU and SHE want it, evolutionarily speaking.

That means she's wired to be attracted to that man if he's exuding and acting through those qualities.

Beyond her control.

2. Playful cold-reading wins again.

When we first started talking, in those first 5-10 minutes, I'm just spewing cold-reading gold out of my mouth. It feels really good right now.

"You're silly. There's no way you're always this much fun.."

"You're 28.."

"A lot of guys bore you."

None of it said for a reaction, just free-flowing consciousness of the mouth, and we're off and running.

3. Knowing when to release, and when not to.

A lot of the time, when I'm really hitting on a girl, I'm pushing
AND pulling.

This is because it sparks all kinds of sexual tension with MOST girls.

Not all though.

I could tell early on, this one needed more of an emotional connection for her to open up sexually, so just being grounded and centered and masculine and listening to her is really all I needed after the first 5-10 minutes.

One key point I remember is she was telling me about this event she's been planning for months now and it's coming up and lots of people are signed up but she's still nervous about it.

Normally, I'd tell the girl, "That's awesome. I know how on top of your shit you are, and I can already tell you're really talented at your job...you're gonna do an amazing job with this event....granted, your feet will still smell when you do, but regardless...you got it."

That last thing at the end of the compliment, the "your feet will still smell" is a release.

It's the PUSHING AWAY after the compliment is PULLING her in.

But like I said. She needed that connection, and did not need the hot/cold aspect of it to turn her on, so when I told her how awesome her event was going to be (which I truly believed....kind of), I didn't push at the end.

I just held that smirking glance of tension, sat back and relaxed.

Awesome night.

OK, I'm off to the gym now and maybe film some blog videos for you guys.

We're almost ready to launch the blog, which I'm so pumped about.

The first designs we got back were nasty, lol, but this latest one is gorgeous.

Can't wait.

Talk to you soon man.

-Jason

P.S. Have you read some of my more advanced material?

I don't talk about it often because most guys aren't ready for it, but if you're already on an advanced level with women, check it out today here. [<http://www.datehotter.com>]

Tuesday Night FIELD REPORT

Got a quick Tuesday night field report to share with you.

If you've ever wanted to know how to pick-up a waitress, read this one closely.

I've been getting more and more emails from guys similar to you letting me know they're learning a ton from these field reports, which is exactly what I wanted.

SO KEEP LETTING A BROTHER KNOW.

K thanks :)

Onto the details.

So lately, I've been on a weird-ass sleep schedule.

Couldn't tell you why.

I just find that sometimes I like going to bed earlier, other times it feels better to work late into the night.

As of late, I've been going to sleep at like 4, waking up at noon and taking a nap at like 10 PM for an hour.

Weird, right?

(HEY! Did you just agree I was weird?!?! Kidding. Lol. Obviously I'm weird. but awesome.)

I normally wake up from the nap, and get some work done.

As of late, I've been working feverishly on a new product I've (selfishly) wanted to make for a long time -- it doesn't have a name yet, but its something like:

"101 Ways To Make Any Girl Want To Fvck You"

Total outer game stuff, all done-for-you tactics and techniques,

all my best ones etc
but that's not important right now, goddamnit Jason, let's focus!
:)

So I wake up from my beauty nap at like 11 last night, and instead of just getting to work, for some reason,
I had a premonition to go to Hooter's and instead get some work done there.

(Yes, my premonition's are awesome.)

I don't fight or ignore my premonitions, I just go with them, so to Hooter's I go -
it's only a few blocks away.

They're closing in like an hour, so the place is empty.

I grab a booth in the back, where I can be alone and get to work and possibly down a shot or two of tequila.

Waitress comes over.

She's kind of my type.

Fvck. Why do they always have to be my type?

She asks me if I want to order something.

I say, "I'm not sure...hold on," and I make her wait like 10 seconds as I decide if I want something.

I order a shot of Jose. She asks for my ID. I give her a "Are you serious??" face and then ask her, "How old are you? Are you even old enough to be serving alcohol?"

We get into a playfight about our ages, I tell her she looks 20.

She's 23.

Lol - I really thought she was younger.

Anyways, she comes back a few minutes later and I ask her (because I'm genuinely curious)

what country she's from...she had a little accent.

She tells me, we talk about how she got here, I tease her a little bit, tell her about my upcoming travels and how I'm feeling about it and my views on people who travel vs people who don't and so on.

Now: Because I STUDY MAN --> WOMAN COMMUNICATION, everything I say is interesting and she's hooked. She sits down in the booth with me and we talk for almost 40 minutes.

I kick her out after that (I'll tell you why in a second) and then when she comes back with the bill, we make specific plans and exchange information.

OK.

So let's fill in some blanks, here were the notes/takeaways I wrote down to myself last night about it:

1. I could tell early on she was a passionate girl who wasn't into the whole hook-up scene (which means very little BTW - if a girl's really attracted, she'll throw all that logic aside and put her passions first, WHICH IS GREAT AND HOW IT SHOULD BE. This just means, in general with most guys, she's not into it. Unfortunately for her logic, she met me.)

So after the first few minutes, when we got into deeper conversation, I asked her "What kind of relationships do you like? What's it feel like when you're in a relationship with that kind of person? How do you know it when it's starting to happen?"

If you couldn't tell, these are amazing questions to be asking. Write them down.

2. I cold-read unapologetically.

A lot of guys are hesitant to cold-read a girl, in fear they'll get it wrong.

Fvck that.

I LIKE getting it wrong - makes for really good conversation.

She mentioned she was in school, so I said, "You're studying to be a teacher, right..".

Nope. Dead wrong.

Did it matter?

Nope.

She wanted to know why I thought that. The power of the cold-read is in you stating it with zero second-guessing and full certainty.

It's incredibly intriguing when someone does that to us, we have to know why they thought that or what signals they're picking up from us.

3. Balancing the front and back of the deeper conversation with playful teasing/disqualifying.

She mentions something, I tease her a little, she laughs, then I go deeper with it and we learn/connect with each other. But you don't stay there all night. After a few minutes, you come out of it and tease lightly again, leading the conversation where you want it to go.

This is called FRACTIONATION in NLP. You start light, go deep, bring it back out to lightness again, then go even deeper, then lighter, then even deeper and so on.

4. I broke her down.

Straight up.

At one point, I said something like, "Yeah, I totally get you."

She was like, "No, no you don't."

And I'm calmly like, "No, trust me.. I totally do..

Then I broke her down exactly as I saw her and she couldn't disagree. I got her (and she loved it).

And dudes, this isn't hard to do. Just be present during the conversation - most of the things I told her about herself were things she had ALREADY told me but the only way you'd know them were if you were really present and listening.

This is a really good thing to do with a girl after talking to her for 20-30 mins.

5. It turned out we had a lot of weird things in common, like family stuff.

Most guys in this situation would take this to mean "OMG, we have so much in common! OMGGG! We're so good for each other" and shit like that.

DO NOT DO THAT when you meet a girl where it seems like you guys were supposed to meet.

I'm telling you, don't do it. Instead, do something like what I did.

After finding out like the 4th weird thing we had in common, I was like, "Fvck, this is too weird. Leave. You have to leave now."

(All this said teasingly/smiling obviously.)

And she said, "I know, this is too weird. (laughing) I'm gonna go get some work done now," and she got up and did exactly that.

Was this the best move? Maybe, maybe not. It's a power move.

Telling her to leave, BECAUSE WE'RE GETTING ALONG TOO WELL, seems crazy to most people.

But imagine what's going through her mind:

"Wow that was so amazing talking with him.. We got along so well... And he told me to leave.. God, he's so confident and free and abundant and awesome.. I mean, I know he knows I'm gonna come back but still.. Wow.. Most guys would never do anything close to that with me.."

There were no guarantees and I've seen stranger things happen, but with great risk comes great reward.

I also know that when she comes back, my value in her eyes is even higher (and her commitment to me, because she came back, EVEN THOUGH IT'S HER JOB, has jumped even higher too).

6. I explained to her why she can't date most guys.

She mentioned she chooses to never meet guys at work (ironic, I know) because they always make these assumptions about her, based on where she works.

This is common.

So I explained to her what was going through their mind when it happens, why they make those slutty assumptions about her and how they're not used to dating girls of her caliber so of course they're gonna get really needy and jealous, and what she needs is a guy who KNOWS women... A guy who can get ANY girl on her level, or higher, but CHOOSES HER...that's what she wants.

This is an awesome theme I find myself saying more and more to girls.

7. When we exchanged numbers, it wasn't just like, "Hey let's exchange numbers."

That's weaksauce.

I qualified her (told her exactly why I liked her kind of playfully and what made her different from most of the girls I meet, all true), then asked her if she liked smoothies. She answered excitedly, I told her I know this great place nearby and I'm taking her with me there, give me your information and I'll text you.

THAT'S how you exchange phone numbers, with a REAL, LEGITIMATE, GENUINE qualification, and a plan.

OK, I'm done.

Hope you got a ton out of that report - email me and let me know.

-Jason

P.S. My offer from yesterday still stands for now.

If you decide to try Sinn's Seduction Roadmap [<http://www.automateyourwebsite.com/app/?Clk=4925707>], forward your receipt over to Sophie at our 24-hour help desk (Support@MakeWomenWantYouNow.com) and I'll hook you up with a really special bonus.

It's a video of me explaining how I use Sexual Framing in my seductions, word-for-word.

No one uses it like I've innovated, and it works faster and easier than anything I've ever tried (which is why I use it with almost every girl).

Try Sinn's Seduction Roadmap (and get my bonus free) here right now. [<http://www.automateyourwebsite.com/app/?Clk=4925707>]

[Weekend Recap] Hollywood Hookup Story WITH PIC!

Back with another Monday edition of "Shit Jason Pulled This Past Weekend"..

(unofficial title :-))

I went out on Friday in Hollywood with some badasses.

Number 1 was a my close buddy Adam Gilad.

Some of you know Adam already.

He's been around the world 80 times and is GREAT with women.

Just an amazing communicator.

The second guy we went out with was the enigmatic David Shade.

If you've ever done any research into how to be a SEX GOD, you've likely landed on David.

He wrote the best book on banging women that I've ever read, called "Give Women Wild Screaming Orgasms" along with a bunch of other stuff (more on that in a second).

I'll cut to the highlights of the night:

* Adam forgetting his wallet and me having to pay for his dinner!
grr

* Me accusing the waitress of trying to get me drunk, then acting sad cuz I know she's just using me and won't be there "to hold my hair back" later in the night..

This is funnier cuz I have a buzz cut and a fohawk.

Also cool: Us exchanging phone numbers. Actually texting with her right now. Hold on.

..K, I'm back.

* David telling us his "hairy girl nipple" story (as gross as it sounds) while a couple of girls eavesdropped 5 feet away..

We called them out for it after.

But the best part of the night took place a couple hours later at Bar Marmount (bar in Hollywood, my first time there).

I got into a feisty conversation early on with these sexy, but reserved Asian girl.

One of my strategies is often to come in extra POLARIZING and dominant, knowing that 99% of girls will respond by..

..testing me.

Most guys would think saying and acting like I often do with girls early on would result in "blow outs", which makes sense.

It's what TV and Hollywood tell you all the time, and want you to believe.

But ahhhhh....how different reality is than the big screen.

Truth is, coming in LOUD and DIRECT and AWESOME, when its congruent, doesn't get you blown out.

In fact, it turns her on.

Which is why she, and 99% of girls will respond by TESTING.

I talk about this in MWWY, right? Tests are a positive thing.

They mean the girl is getting turned on by you.

And I love getting tested. Why not? I'm 100% congruent, tests make me look even more awesome :-)

So as this little Asian sextress tests me a couple times, and as she recognizes the realness, she submits, buys me a drink and we start vibing.

Twenty minutes later, we start making out at the bar, which is cool, but not ideal.

So I pull back, tell her we need to go outside and lead her there.

Once outside, I take her around the back of this gas station where the people in line can't see us, throw her against a wall and we start going at it.

I'm not totally comfortable sharing total "locker room talk" online but certain things that are typically illegal in public took place out there.

One of her friends, who saw how awesome I was (this is me not bragging, but reiterating to you...friends will only cockblock when they feel like their friends isn't getting hit on by an alpha male) snapped a picture of us on the street after and texted it to me after.

Too funny, check it out [ <http://www.makewomenwantyounow.com/jasonstreet.jpg>] (I couldn't figure out how to load the picture here into the email).

So that was a good night.

Also, like I mentioned about David Shade's sex course..

It's f*cking phenomenal.

I recommend it to everyone (and I only recommend the things I've used myself with positive results).

So after talking about it with David, I think next week I'm going to run a promotion to it to you.

I just want you to know: I'd really like for you to have it.

I'd really like for you to take the next girl you sleep with and make her your personal little sex slave.

Make her addicted to your sex.

And the stuff David divulges in his course teaches you to do that, step-by-step.

JUST DON'T BUY IT YET.

I'm putting together a sick little bonus package to go along with it that all my subscribers will get FREE when they pick up David's course next week.

We'll talk more about that soon.

Hope you got some stuff out this little recap from the weekend,
I'm out to dinner with my friend Josh Pellicer right now.

CHIPOTLE ftw.

Give truth :-)

-Jason