SECTION THREE : Reading comprehension (11-23)

Directions : Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow . Each question has four choices . Choose the best alternative and blacken the letter of your choice in the answer sheet provided

The geology of the Earth's surface is dominated by the particular properties of water . Present on Earth in solid , liquid , and gaseous states, water is exceptionally reactive . It dissolves , transports and precipitates many chemical compounds and constantly modifying the face of the earth .

Evaporated from the oceans, water vapor forms clouds , some of which are transported by wind over the continents . condensation from the clouds provides the essential agent of continental erosion : rain, precipitated on to the ground , the water trickles down to form brooks, streams , and rivers , constituting what is called the hydrographic network . This immense polarized network channels the water toward a single receptacle . an ocean , Gravity dominates this entire step in the cycle because water tends to minimize its potential energy by running form high altitudes towards the reference point that is sea level.

The rate at which a molecule of water passes through the cycle is not random but is a measure of the relative size of the various reservoirs . If we define residence time as the average time for a water molecule to pass through one of the three reservoirs atmosphere. continent , and ocean We see that the times are very different, A water molecule stays, on average, eleven days in the atmosphere , one hundred years on a continent and forty thousand years in the ocean . This last figure shows the importance of the ocean as the principal reservoir of the hydrosphere but also the rapidity of water transport on the continents

A vast chemical separation process takes place during the flow of water over the continents . Soluble ions such as calcium , sodium , potassium , and some magnesium are dissolved and transported . Insoluble ions such as aluminum , iron and silicon stay where they are and form the thin , fertile skin of soil on which vegetation can grown. Sometimes soils are destroyed and transported mechanically during flooding . The erosion of the continents thus results from two closely linked and interdependent process , chemical erosion and mechanical erosion . Their respective interactions and efficiency depend on different factors.

11. What determines the rate at which a molecule of water moves through the cycle , as discussed in the third paragraph ?

A. The potential energy contained in water .

B. The effects of atmospheric pressure on chemical compound .

C. The amount of rainfall that fall on the continents

D. The relative size of the water storage areas

12. The word " modifying " in paragraph 1 line ___3____ is closest in meaning to

A. Changing B. traveling C. describing D. destroying

13. All of the following are examples of soluble ions EXCEPT

A. Magnesium B. iron C. Potassium D. Calcium

14. The word " Which " in paragraph 2 refers to _____

A. Clouds B. oceans C. continents D. compounds

15. One of the following is not water storage mechanism discussed in the passage .

A. Atmosphere B. continent C. Reservoir D. Ocean

16. The word " rapidity " in paragraph 3 is closest in meaning to

A. Significance B. method C. swiftness D. reliability

17. Which one of the following statements is TRUE about the erosion of the continents ?

A. A main agent for continental erosion is rain .

B. It has a second process a chemical erosion .

C. It results from the mechanical process –flooding

D. It is the reason for separation of insoluble ions

18. The word " This " in paragraph 2 refers to _____

A. Rain B. ocean C. sea level D. hydrographic network

19. The passage suggests that the purpose of the "hydrographic network " in paragraph 2 is to _____

A. Determine the size of molecules of water

B. Prevent soil erosion caused by flooding

C. Move water from the earth's surface to the ocean

D. Regulate the rate of water flow from streams and rivers

20. The word "efficiency " in paragraph 4 is closest in meaning to

A. Relationship B. growth C. influence D. effectiveness

21. According to the passage , clouds are primarily formed by water _____

A. Precipitating on to the ground

B. Changing from a solid to a liquid state

C. Evaporating from the oceans

D. Being carried by wind

22. The word "They " in paragraph 4 refers to _____

A. Insoluble ions B. soluble ions C. soils D. continents

23. The phrase " residence time ' used in paragraph 3 is probably used to refer to _____

A. The time during which water stays in its liquid state .

B. The time the water stays in one of the storage system .

C. The time it takes water molecules to complete break apart .

D. The time water takes to pass through all the storage systems .

SECTION FOUR : Vocabulary

A. Completion (24-37)

Directions : Questions 24-37 are incomplete sentences . There are four alternative words or phrases, A-D given below each question. Choose the one that best completes each sentence and blacken the letter of your choice in the space provided in the answer sheet .
