I DON'T HAVE YOUR PHONE NUMBER!

NAME: _____ DATE: _____

1. Read the text and answer the questions.

Alexander Graham Bell

Alexander Graham Bell was a famous scientist, engineer and inventor. He was born on March 3rd, 1847 in Edinburgh, Scotland. Both Alexander's mom and wife were deaf which had a major influence on his work. In 1876, Alexander Graham Bell invented the first working telephone. Bell's first words with the working telephone were spoken to his assistant Watson and were along the lines of "Mr. Watson, come here. I want to see you." He even said towards the end his career, "The day will come when the man at the telephone will be able to see the distant person whom he is speaking." Alexander was right! He died on August 2, 1922 at the age of 75.
