NOTTINGHAM FOREST
- Seasons 1970-71 to 1994-95

When Nottingham Forest finished third in the FA Carling Premiership in 1994-95, their prospects looked so much brighter than at the start of 1970-71, 25 seasons before. They were also a top-flight side then, but in between have experienced two spells in the second-flight. They have also had by far the most glorious period in their history.

Managed by Matt Gillies, Forest started 1970-71 as an average First Division side and that season did nothing to change their mediocre rating. They finished the campaign in 16th, one place lower than the previous term. Gillies' shot-shy side scored at a rate of exactly one per game, and in 10 out of 11 consecutive early season games failed to score at all. Only Ian Moore (with 18) and Peter Cormack (with 7) netted more than 3 times. A remarkable feature in 1970-71 was that goalkeeper Jim Barron and the whole of his defence (Peter Hindley, John Winfield, Bob Chapman and Liam O'Kane) were ever-present.

The defence was neither ever-present nor particularly good in 1971-72 when it leaked 81 goals as Forest slipped into the Second Division for the first time in 15 years. Only 4 matches were won before Christmas and 7 defeats on the reel early in the new year effectively sealed their fate. Tommy Gemmell's arrival (from Celtic) perked them up, but the revival was too little, too late and they finished 4 points short of safety in 21st place. Moore was again the top scorer with 13, despite his March move to Old Trafford.

Forest were one of the early Second Division pace-makers in 1972-73; but a spate of defeats tested the crowd's patience. By the middle of October Gillies' position became untenable. The new manager, Dave Mackay, made few changes and even less impact on the team's form and they finished 14th. An inability to put the ball in the net was again the major problem. There were 4 joint top scorers with 6 goals apiece - Duncan McKenzie, Martin O'Neill, Neil Martin and John Galley.

Despite a mixed start to 1973-74, Forest were among the leaders when Mackay moved to a similar position at Derby. His replacement was Allan Brown, the Bury boss. Mackay's last signing, Ian Bowyer, began to put some pep into the side but the real star was the emerging McKenzie who netted 26 goals. However, Brown's side could not quite penetrate the top three and finished 7th, 4 points short of promotion.

Nevertheless, they grabbed some glory in 1973-74 by reaching the quarter-final of the FA Cup, beating Manchester City along the way. Another First Division side Newcastle, were their opponents in the last eight and that St James' Park clash turned out to be one of the most controversial in the competition's history. Forest were leading 2-1 when they were awarded a second half penalty. A Newcastle player was dismissed for protesting and after George Lyall converted the kick the referee had to take the players off because of a pitch invasion. The game resumed after an 8 minute break and Newcastle scored three times to make it 4-3. However, the match was quickly annulled by the FA and was replayed at Goodison Park 9 days later. There were no goals in that next match, but it was the Magpies who eventually progressed by winning a 'third' tie 1-0, when the teams returned to Goodison Park 3 days later.

Brown's tenure at the City Ground ended the following January, after his side failed to make any impact on the leaders. Brian Clough was immediately installed as the manager. His first transfer dealings were to recruit John McGovern and John O'Hare, both of whom had played for him before, at three and two other clubs, respectively. Forest went on to win only 3 of the last 17 games of 1974-75, but were never in serious relegation danger and finished 16th, 6 points clear of the drop.

A newcomer to the City Ground during the summer of 1975 was full-back Frank Clark, who had been freed by Newcastle. Forest got off to a mixed start in 1975-76 and hardly improved, sitting in mid-division, until a late burst took them up to 8th.

Peter Taylor rejoined his former boss to become assistant manager in July 1976 and his arrival, together with those of striker Peter Withe (from Birmingham) and Coventry's centre-half Larry Lloyd, seemed to have a significant affect on Forest's fortunes. After a mediocre start, it soon became apparent that exciting times were just around the corner as they got into the flow, netting 23 times in 5 successive high scoring victories at the City Ground. Three away games were lost in between, but gradually their form on the road also picked up. A brief blip, when they let Luton and Notts County win at the City Ground, slowed them down; but 5 straight wins pushed them back into promotion contention. However, they won only 3 of their last 7 games and required assistance from other clubs to secure promotion.

Forest had finished the campaign in a promotion place, third - 4 points ahead of Bolton who, however, had 3 rearranged games to fulfil. They won the first, but then lost 1-0 to the Champions Wolves at Burnden Park. The Trotters' final game was academic as by then they needed to win by a rugby score to take third place and the champagne was already flowing on the banks of the Trent.

Withe finished top scorer with 16, Bowyer netted 12 and Tony Woodcock hit 11. The latter appeared in each of the last 30 games after returning from an early season loan spell at Doncaster.

As a sign of the good things to come, Clough's side won a trophy in that promotion winning 1976-77 campaign. They beat Orient over two legs in the final of the Anglo-Scottish Cup.

A Forest stalwart, Bob Chapman, moved across the Trent to Notts County during the summer of 1977 after 359 League games in a red shirt. Clough had already signed Birmingham's Kenny Burns to take his place, and early in the season added Peter Shilton (from Stoke), and one of his old Derby midfielders, Archie Gemmill.

Clough's side was now taking shape and it took the First Division by storm. To everybody's surprise, Forest won 11 of the first 16 games. Their critics still forecast that the bubble would burst; but it never did. After losing for the third time on 19th November, they went 26 games without defeat to finish as Champions with 64 points - 7 more than the runners-up Liverpool. Only four other clubs had accumulated more points in winning the Championship since the Second World War.

It was the second time that Clough (and Taylor) had turned a Second Division side into Football League Champions within a short space of time, having previously achieved it with Derby. Their skill in the transfer market in enticing Shilton, Burns, Gemmill and Dave Needham (who joined from QPR mid-season) was the key to this latest success. To underline matters, the combative Kenny Burns deservedly collected the 1977-78 'Player of the Year' award.

Withe and John Robertson finished as joint top scorers with 12, while Woodcock (who had another fine campaign) again contributed 11. Clark missed most of the season through injury and the regular full-back pairing was Viv Anderson and Colin Barrett. Lloyd, Bowyer, O'Neill and McGovern were the other regulars in a team that worked so hard for one another.

That team (or eight parts of it) had gained an earlier trophy success in the 1977-78 season. After losing an FA Cup quarter-final at WBA, Forest bounced back to win a League Cup replay. The first game with Liverpool had ended in a goalless stalemate; but a Robertson penalty was enough to secure them their first major trophy in 19 seasons. Shilton, Gemmill and Needham were cup-tied and so 17 year-old goalkeeper Chris Woods and O'Hare were called upon to make valuable contributions and collect winners' medals.

Retaining the League Championship was never going to be easy and it was made even more difficult when they only drew 6 of the first 7 games. Nevertheless, Forest were soon on the tails of the leaders and did not lose until the 17th game, at Liverpool. Withe had moved to Newcastle after just one game and his place was taken first by Steve Elliot, and then, with much more success, by Garry Birtles (who ended up as top scorer with 14). Forest gradually moved through the field, losing just 2 more games, but too many draws prevented them from getting alongside the Champions Liverpool. However, second place was a creditable performance and far from Forest's only reward in 1978-79.

A 3-1 aggregate win over Watford put Clough's side into another League Cup final. This time they did not require a replay, as 2 goals by Birtles and another by Woodcock gave them a 3-2 edge over Southampton.

One man who did not play in that League Cup final was Trevor Francis, who had been purchased mid-season from Birmingham for £1 million and was cup-tied. However, he was eligible for their European Cup campaign and by the time he appeared, Forest had already collected the scalps of Liverpool, AEK Athens, Grasshoppers and Cologne to reach the final. The semi-final meetings with Cologne proved to be their biggest test, a 3-3 draw at the City Ground gave Clough's side an uphill battle in Germany; but Bowyer hit the only goal to make it a night of glory.

Forest's second night of glory in Germany came in the final in Munich against the Swedish Champions Malmö. That, too, ended in a single goal victory. The scorer was Francis with a back-post header in first-half injury-time.

So, just 2 years after scraping into the top-flight on the backs of Bolton's misfortune, Nottingham Forest had been crowned Kings of Europe. Their trophy haul numbered four, during a period when they had not been beaten at the City Ground.

Frank Gray, Asa Hartford and, mid-season, Stan Bowles all joined in 1979-80. Hartford's Forest career lasted just 3 games before he moved on once again.

Brighton became the first side in 52 matches to beat Forest at the City Ground, when they won 1-0 in November. That defeat was one of 5 in 6 games which effectively scuppered their title hopes. It was also Woodcock's last before he moved to Cologne. A late revival lifted them to a 1979-80 finish of 5th and, in the meantime, they reached a third League Cup final after squeezing past West Ham and Liverpool. However, a silly misunderstanding between Needham and Shilton enabled Wolves to take the trophy by a single Andy Gray goal.

The League Cup may have been given away sloppily, but that was not the case in the European Cup. However, they were severely tested by Dynamo Berlin in the quarter-final. The East Germans won 1-0 at the City Ground, but a brace by Francis and a Robertson penalty proved more than enough as the away leg was captured 3-1.

Francis and another Robertson spot-kick gave them a two goal lead against Ajax in the semi-final; and although the Dutch halved the deficit on their own soil they could not force extra-time.

Their opponents in the Madrid final were Hamburg, complete with Kevin Keegan in their ranks. Robertson netted the only goal, but the real hero was Shilton who pulled off a string of fine saves to keep his side in front.

John Robertson scores the only goal in the 1979 European Cup Final against Hamburg in Madrid.

Forest lost their grip on the European Cup in the first round in 1980-81, when CSKA Sofia beat them 1-0 twice. Clough's dreams of a first FA Cup success were fuelled by a run to the quarter-final stage, but were then punctured by Ipswich. Forest failed to win anything that season as several of their new signings failed to produce the goods. Raimondo Ponte, Peter Ward and Einar Aas were all internationals, but none matched the class of their predecessors. Another new boy, Ian Wallace, finished the top scorer with 11 goals as Forest finished 7th.

Wallace was also the top scorer in 1981-82 with 7 goals out of a meagre total of 42. Forest had slumped to 12th and the arrival of Justin Fashanu and Jürgen Rober added little to the cause. Brian Clough was left holding the reins alone, after Peter Taylor retired at the end of the season.

1982-83 was a much better campaign with Colin Todd and Kenny Swain signing to help shore up the defence. After a mixed start, they had climbed into the Championship race by Christmas. However, they could not quite maintain the pressure and finished 5th.

Forest's improvement continued in 1983-84. After another mixed start they steadily moved up the table to second place in February. They again failed to sustain their challenge, but 3 successive victories in May secured them third place, 6 points off the top.

Clough's side also fell just short of glory in the UEFA Cup in 1983-84. They side-stepped Vorwaerts, PSV Eindhoven, Celtic (with a fine win at Parkhead) and Sturm Graz to set up semi-final meetings with Anderlecht. Two goals by Steve Hodge gave Forest the edge in the first leg, but the Belgians fought back to win 3-0 on their own soil.

Forest's next UEFA Cup campaign also foundered in Belgium, this time at the first hurdle, with FC Bruges winning 1-0 on aggregate. The club also slipped backwards in the League in 1984-85; a good start enabled them to head the early tables, but they lost form and finished 9th. Peter Davenport was the top scorer with 16.

That honour went to Nigel Clough (with 15 goals) a year later, with his father's side improving one place to 8th. They made a poor start, but 5 straight wins lifted them to mid-table where they stayed for the remainder of 1985-86.

Forest also finished 8th in 1986-87, but this was a very disappointing outcome after they had been serious title challengers for the first 4 months. They won 11 of the first 18 fixtures and stood in second place in early December. However, their challenge crumbled amongst a glut of draws and they won just 7 of their remaining 24 games.

Another title challenge was mounted in 1987-88, on the back of 13 victories in 1987. However, their hopes again faded in the second half of the campaign and they finished a distant third. In the FA Cup, a fine 2-1 victory at Highbury took Clough's side into the last four, but it was Liverpool who progressed to the final, after one of the best semi-finals for years.

That semi-final was held at Hillsborough; one year later the two sides returned their for a rerun. However, the game had to be abandoned following the worst tragedy in British sporting history (with 96 spectators killed and over two hundred injured). Liverpool won the hollow 'replay' 3-1 at Old Trafford.

Six days before the Hillsborough disaster, Forest won the League (now the Littlewoods) Cup with a 3-1 victory over Luton. Nigel Clough netted twice and made a third for Neil Webb. The club also won another cup at Wembley in 1988-89, beating Everton 4-3 after extra-time in the Simod Cup.

After a disappointing start, Forest had made headway in the League in 1988-89, with 6 consecutive victories around the turn of the year. A fruitful spring enabled them to finish third again, 12 points behind the top two.

Another mixed start hampered their challenge the following term, but a 9 game unbeaten run lifted them into third place in early March. However, 6 defeats in seven sent them backwards and it needed 3 victories from the last 4 games to secure 9th place. Forest returned to Wembley in 1989-90 to retain the Littlewoods Cup. A single goal by Nigel Jemson was enough to beat Oldham and secure the club their fourth League Cup.

Just over a year later, red and white scarves again headed to Middlesex for Forest's first FA Cup final in 32 years. A Stuart Pearce free-kick gave them a half-time lead, but their opponents Spurs equalised; and then won in extra-time through an unfortunate Des Walker own-goal.

There were few highlights in Forest's 1990-91 League season but, after being mid-division most of the campaign, they lifted themselves up to finish 8th, through a 16 point haul from the last 6 games.

They also finished 8th a year later, again after being in mid-table most of the season. The club was involved in 3 long cup runs in 1991-92 and visited Wembley twice. However, Brian Clough was destined not to enjoy FA Cup success and a single Portsmouth goal knocked his side out at the quarter-final stage. One goal also ended Forest's hopes in the Rumbelows Cup final, with Manchester United being the victors. Their only trophy success was the Zenith Data Systems Cup, by a 3-2 margin over Southampton in the final.

1992-93 was a disastrous season as - after a span of 16 seasons in the top-flight - Nottingham Forest were relegated. They won the opening game, but then secured only 2 more victories from the next twenty. Five wins in seven briefly revived hopes of survival in early 1993, but only 2 more victories were forthcoming and they finished in 22nd and bottom place, 9 points adrift of safety.

Brain Clough resigned at the end of the season, after 18 years as the club's manager. Until his arrival, Nottingham Forest had only won 2 major trophies (the FA Cup twice) in their history. He led them to 7 more - the Football League title, 2 European Cups and 4 League Cups. He was the 'Manager of the Year' in 1977-78.

The other Clough, Brian's son Nigel, also left the City Ground before the start of 1993-94. He moved to Liverpool after 311 League games in which he netted 101 times. He was the club's top scorer in 6 out of the 8 full seasons in which he was a member of the first team.

The man given the difficult job of filling Brian Clough's shoes was one of his former players, Frank Clark. He had been Leyton Orient's Managing Director for two years after previously managing them for eight.

After a disappointing start, Clark started to enjoy getting his hands dirty again. His new side won only twice in the first 9 matches, but gradually improved before a 13 game unbeaten run pushed them into promotion contention. Having got the bit between their teeth, Forest stormed back into the Premiership. They lost just one of their last 16 matches to finish as runners-up to long-term leaders Crystal Palace. The total of 83 points was the biggest haul in the club's history.

Stan Collymore was the 1993-94 top scorer (with 19) in his first year at the City Ground, while the main fulcrum for the side's success had been the solidity of a defence containing Pearce, Des Lyttle, Colin Cooper and Steve Chettle.

Collymore followed with another 22 goals in 1994-95 as his side took the Premiership by surprise. Collymore had been joined up front by Dutch international Bryan Roy; and the midfield of Lars Bohinen, Steve Stone, David Phillips and Ian Woan was superb. With goalkeeper Mark Crossley and his defence conceding less than a goal per game, Frank Clark's side finished third, only 10 points behind the Champions Blackburn, and gained a UEFA Cup place.

Redevelopment of the ground nearing completion. With an all-seater capacity of over 30,000 the City Ground is among the best in the Country.
