The fountain of love

Introduction:

The G-spot.

If you think squirting is something dirty STOP reading right NOW.

There is a spot on the vaginal wall, a few inches from the vaginal opening. If stimulated correctly you can make a woman come, no matter what. You'll learn that you're not the only one that can ejaculate ;).

Later on in this article the correct fingers to use and the movement will be discussed. We'll get to that in a MINUTE, first things first. I'll try to cut through all the crap and jump straight to the useful stuff. There is no need for a lecture about the guy who invented it and so on and so on.

There has been a lot of speculation if the G-spot actually exists or not. I can assure you there is something there whether it is the fucking G-spot or not, I don't know, but it fucking works for me. So let's end this discussion once and for all.

The G-spot is a sort of muscle and it needs to be awakened. Much like a muscle that you train in the gym. It needs to be developed and built up (Later more about how to strengthen the possible muscle). I think I only met a handful of women that didn't actually squirt. Trust me I have a decent sample size.

As many as 80% of woman have trouble reaching orgasm. Is that even a coincidence?

Women tend to blame it on the men which is often true. Not only are we often undereducated but most of all we are self-centered. No excuses and no laziness from now on, satisfy your girls and I guarantee you that she will beg like a dog for more. There is an underlying problem though: most women are not comfortable with their own body and a lot of them don't even understand half of their body pleasure points that often lead to orgasm. Those women just need a bit more time.

In most cases women require at least 20 minutes of sexual activity to climax. I can tell you that I've met a lot of women that climax in under 2 minutes. With the guidelines in this article it's possible to reduce it to under 1 minute (with minimal practice ;-)). My last sexual encounter I asked the woman to count out loud while I was fingering her. I think she reached the number tweeeeeeeeeeelve.

This is not a guide to solve all the sexual troubles but I can assure you that if you meet a girl you'll never ever think this again: 'Am I able to give her pleasure', 'Will I be able to satisfy her'.. You will either come from the frame of: 'I can give her an experience that will blow her mind and make her body tremble from head to toe'. Knowing that you can always pleasure a woman is pure gold. I believe that the frame in how you relate as a man to woman will also dramatically change.

In case you didn't know by now. I have a fetish for squirting and I made it my goal to let every girl that crossed my path squirt. Some girls like it, some will love it. You receive her liquid of love. The fountain of love

ON to the action bitches..

What fingers should I use?

You all know the amazing Spiderman cartoon don't you? Yep, you guessed it correctly. When he launches his web he uses his middle finger and ring finger. Try it out know, bend your middle and ring finger towards the inside of your hand. Good, this is your first step in hand positioning.

Another trick is to picture a bowling ball. You need to pick it up. Use your middle and ring finger. Thumb will be where the clit is.

Remember to use one finger first if she isn't that wet yet or simply a little bit tight. Once she's wet as fuck, you enter her and you run your middle and ring finger along the front wall of her vagina, palm up of course. I like to grab her wall as tight as possible. You'll get the feel of it about how tight you should hold it. I like to enter my fingers just until my knuckles because for me I have the best possible movement in that position. So you should curl the tip of your fingers and stroke it towards you as If you were saying come here to someone.

At first you should do long slow movements and once she is starting to get moist and all swollen up inside then you should go a little faster. As soon as you here some 'sopping' sound like "SOP SOP SOP" you should start doing the pumping motion. You should do it faster and stronger than the come here motion. Babies are born out of there so she can take it, no worries.

What is the pumping motion?

Instead of doing the come here motion with only your fingers you switch to the pumping motion. You leave your fingers curled as in motion 1 above and grasp her wall tightly. You start to move your upper arm up and down.

If done correctly her G-spot will swell up and she will perceive an urge to pee. Assure her if she feels that for the first time that it isn't pee and tell her to push it out. When she cums her vagina will contract around your fingers. Eventually she will push your fingers out (not always) and squirt everywhere. Some girls have an actual squirt, but most of them have just a lot of gushing going on because there muscle isn't strong enough to push everything out like a water gun.

This is actually all you need to become good at this. I know, simple right? Now get ready to change lots of sheets madafackaaaaa.

Strengthening her and your PC muscle

This is the muscle that you use when you need to stop the flow of urine by using a quick muscle contraction. This will help you from ejaculating to soon and her for having more intense orgasms.

Try to keep your stomach and thigh muscles relaxed and focus on your PC muscle.

3 times a day you do 20 contractions.

3 times a day you do 20 contractions and each contraction is 2 seconds.

Making her squirt with your cock

Now that you have mastered the fingering technique it is time for the real work. To make her squirt with your cock is actually a pretty difficult task. But if you can do it you'll feel like a god.

By mastering the fingering techniques you'll know the angles and what to look for (pressure etc).

I have a few tweaked basic positions that I use to put maximum pressure on her G-spot, but it still isn't easy and takes hard work because with your hands you have more stamina (you get tired less easily) and more grip.

That's it for now, I hope you enjoyed and most of all have fun ;)
