Reading

H. Read the letters below about bad experiences sent to a travel magazine, then say if the statements below are T (true) or F (false).

Living in the country can be a nightmare for simple things like catching a plane. My husband Paul and I were going on a holiday to Thailand. A friend picked us up and we drove for three hours to get to the airport. We arrived in plenty of time and waited in the queue at the check-in desk. When it was our turn, a look of horror came over Paul's face. He had forgotten all of our travel documents on the kitchen table! We had to reschedule our flight, drive all the way home and leave the following day.

Olivia, New Zealand

I always wanted to travel to Venice and I finally did last year. As a city full of canals, one way to cross the water is to use a gondola, a traditional rowing boat. I was with my best friend, Sue, and we decided to hire one. We had so much fun on the boat, laughing and posing for photos! At one point, I stood up to take a photo of Sue. However, the boat started to rock, I lost my balance and actually dropped my camera in the water. It was horrible!

Kerry, Wales

I had travelled to Europe many times and was confident about getting around different countries. I was with my younger sister who had never travelled abroad before. In a way, I was responsible for teaching her about the right and wrong ways of travelling. We caught an overnight train from northern Italy headed for Austria to visit family. We had fallen asleep and woke up when the ticket inspector asked us for our tickets. He looked closely at the tickets and then explained that we were on a train going to Spain!

Reading

H. Read the letters below about strange travel destinations sent to a travel magazine, then say if the statements below are T (true) or F (false).

Last year I decided to do something totally different and exciting for my holiday. I love horse riding and I'm a big fan of cowboy films. So Clare (my husband's sister) and I went to Texas and stayed on a real ranch with real cowboys. Everyday we helped round up the cattle and move them to fresh fields. As I work at a riding school, I didn't mind being on horseback seven hours a day. But Clare only goes riding at weekends and was really exhausted by the end of the day. We had a brilliant time, though!

Louisa, Scotland

I'm never happier than when I'm in the great outdoors. As far as I'm concerned, staying in hotels is pretty boring. A couple of summers ago, I went to Turkey and stayed in a tree house. It's not the best place to stay if you're afraid of heights because you have to climb up a really high ladder to get to your room. In the morning it was wonderful looking out the window and being right up at the top of the tree. I loved it! This truly is a great place to go if you are adventurous and love nature.

Jamie, USA

Before going to university, I took a year off to travel around the world with a group of friends from secondary school. We didn't have a lot of money and we were always trying to find cheap places to stay. You wouldn't believe some of the places we ended up staying in! One of the best was a hostel in Canada. They had turned an old prison into a place to stay but they'd kept it the same as when there were prisoners there. It was quite basic and each cell had four people staying in it. All I could think about was all the people who had been locked up there. I have to say I was thankful that our cell doors weren't locked at night!

Keira, South Africa

A Magic Job

Ken Flannagan began his career in the magic industry only two years ago, but he has already managed to make a name for himself. When he first started out as a trainee magician at the age of fifteen, his parents weren't very thrilled about it. They thought that he wouldn't be able to earn a decent living and they tried to convince him otherwise.

Luckily, Ken's mentor (the well-known magician Malcolm Potts) taught him well. Malcolm insisted that he practise day and night. Perfecting his own tricks and inventing new ones was the key to Ken's success. Soon, he was participating in some of his mentor's shows and then worked on his own.

He is now a performer at children's parties and other events throughout the city. Most recently, just last October, he won first prize at the Annual Junior Magician's Convention in Minneapolis. Since then, he has been earning $400 per performance, which you have to admit isn't too bad for someone who hasn't even graduated from school yet!

What does this teach us? Sometimes you just have to take a chance! Ken often says, "If you're determined you can be successful, so don't let anyone tell you what you can and can't do." We're not surprised!

e.g. Ken has been working as a magician for two years.

Reading

H. Read the text and mark the sentences T (true) or F (false).

High Flier

Alistair Eve is a man with an unusual job, to say the least! He is a human cannonball. Twice a day he is fired from a cannon, normally used in battles, and is thrown through the air at nearly 80 kilometres per hour. He's a real crowd-pleaser, but it's not as easy as it looks. Alistair admits that it's a tough job that requires a lot of concentration and perfect timing.

Alistair comes from a long line of circus performers and grew up under the Big Top. His father was a clown, bringing tears of laughter to generations of children and his mother was a daring trapeze artist. Naturally, Alistair wanted to keep up the tradition and follow in his family's footsteps. Like his mum, he has always had a passion for danger and decided that human cannonball was the career for him.

To do his act, Alistair climbs into the cannon and carefully positions himself. Then air is pumped inside the barrel at high pressure. As he flies into mid-air he has to keep his body as tight as possible and land on his back in the safety net. It's all over in a matter of seconds, but getting it right takes years of training and a high level of skill.

In over a decade of performing Alistair has never had a serious accident. "Just a few bumps and bruises," he says, laughing. Still, after seeing how fast and high he goes, I intend to keep my feet firmly on the ground!

e.g. Alistair performs his act two times a day.

Swim into shape

Reading

G. Read the text and choose the correct answer for questions 37-41.

Under the Weather

Have you ever wondered if the weather affects your mood and behaviour? If you have, then you're right! The way you think and feel can actually change depending on the weather.

Many people complain of feeling 'down' or having 'the blues' in winter. This may be because there isn't as much sunshine in the winter and our brains respond to natural light. In Britain, for example, many people suffer from SAD (Seasonal Affective Disorder) which makes them tired and bad-tempered because there is little sunlight in the often grey and cloudy United Kingdom.

Of course, we all know that a bright, sunny day can make us really cheerful and put us in a good mood. In New York City, however, the police blame hot weather for rises in crime. During heatwaves in the summer crime levels can rise as people get angry and aggressive because of the change in temperature.

Some scientists have discovered that low air pressure can cause people to have problems concentrating and make them forgetful. So, if you're the kind of person that's always forgetting where you left your house keys, blame it on the weather!

What about the wind? Does it drive you mad? It actually could be making you crazy! Strong and constant winds really can get to you. Children tend to be more troublesome in school and behave badly when it's windy. Another result of windy weather is that there are more traffic accidents. Therefore you should also take extra care while driving.

So, next time you watch the weather report it could even predict your mood for the day!

e.g. The article is about

- ☐ A predicting the weather.
 - ☒ B how the weather changes how we feel.
 - ☐ C sicknesses caused by the weather.
 - ☐ D changes in the seasons.
- 37 People in Britain are said to suffer from SAD in winter because
- ☐ A there isn't a lot of sunshine.
 - ☐ B there aren't many clouds.
 - ☐ C they are tired.
 - ☐ D their brains don't respond.
- 38 Summer heatwaves are blamed for
- ☐ A people becoming forgetful.
 - ☐ B car accidents.
 - ☐ C crime levels getting higher.
 - ☐ D making it difficult to concentrate.

39 If you are forgetful, it could be because

- ☐ A of rain.
 - ☐ B of a heatwave.
 - ☐ C of low pressure in the air.
 - ☐ D of no air pressure.
- 40 During windy weather children might
- ☐ A have more traffic accidents.
 - ☐ B be more careful at school.
 - ☐ C be more tired.
 - ☐ D not be well-behaved.
- 41 The writer suggests that when it's windy
- ☐ A teachers should close the windows.
 - ☐ B drivers should be more careful.
 - ☐ C people should take care crossing the road.
 - ☐ D children should try to be happy.

A Stormy Debate

One of the worst storms ever to hit the United States was Hurricane Katrina in August 2005. The storm flooded 80% of the city of New Orleans. The tsunami in the Indian ocean in December 2004 was also a huge disaster that killed 230,000 people. But the reasons for terrible weather conditions have lead to a lot of disagreement between scientists and meteorologists around the world.

Some experts say that in the past 100 years there haven't been any real major changes in the weather. They say that harsh weather is something that occurs naturally, in cycles, and that it isn't getting any worse. The reason that people think it is getting worse is due to the fact that, nowadays, there is more information on weather events around the world in newspapers, on the radio and on television.

There are, however, scientists who believe that global warming is affecting the climate. They believe that greenhouse gases are responsible for making the Earth warmer. Some of these gases are caused by people and businesses polluting the environment.

Which theory do you agree with? The truth is, with more research and discussion into the reasons for harsh weather conditions, the brighter the world's future will be.

e.g. The text is mainly about

- A one of the worst storms in history.
- B global warming.
- C the reasons for terrible weather.
- D disasters.

37 Because of Hurricane Katrina

- A most of New Orleans was covered in water.
- B New Orleans was hit by a tsunami.
- C New Orleans lost 80% of its water.
- D 230,000 people were killed.

38 Experts around the world

- A agree on the reasons for bad weather.
- B do not agree about the reasons for bad weather.
- C are meteorologists.
- D are changing the weather.

39 According to some scientists, in the past 100 years

- A there are more cycles.
- B there have been more tsunamis.
- C people have been watching too much television.
- D the weather has not become worse.

40 One reason for the harsh weather could be because

- A there is more information about people.
- B we see and hear more about the weather.
- C more people travel around the world.
- D we don't read enough newspapers.

41 Some scientists believe global warming

- A is affecting the climate.
- B is not hurting the environment.
- C is a reason for the change in summers.
- D is producing greenhouse gases.

A Night to Remember

A pale, yellow moon was rising as I was walking home from my friend's house. We had spent the evening babysitting her younger sister and had watched two really frightening horror films on TV.

Imagine my shock when, suddenly, from the distance I heard a loud cry and saw a strange white form flying towards me at top speed through the air. My mouth opened but no sound came out. The terror I felt stopped me from screaming for help. I fell to the ground to escape as I was certain it was a ghost. I kept my eyes tightly shut, in case I would end up staring into the eyes of a terrible monster.

After a couple of minutes, when I realised that I hadn't been hurt, I carefully opened my eyes and looked around. It was then that I heard the hooting coming from a nearby tree. I looked up and saw a large, white owl sitting on a branch, watching me with what seemed to be a puzzled expression on its face.

I could have kicked myself for being so stupid. It's strange how the mind can play tricks on you. I promised myself that that was the last time I would go wandering around late at night after watching horror films!

An Unbelievable Night

It was a cold, windy night as I snuggled down under my warm blanket in bed. I had just switched off the TV, brushed my teeth and was reading my favourite book, Wuthering Heights by Emily Bronte. I love reading, especially at night just before I go to sleep. I was at the part in the book when Cathy's ghost appears.

As I turned the page of my book, I was sure I heard a strange noise at the window. Slowly, I got out of bed, put on my slippers and dressing gown and walked towards the window. The wind was howling outside and the branches of the trees were waving wildly back and forth. Suddenly, I heard the noise again. It sounded like someone was knocking at the window. But I knew that was impossible because my room is on the first floor of the house.

My heart was pounding as I quickly flung the window wide open. At that moment, a cold, white hand grabbed my arm and tried to pull me out the window. I screamed and tried to free myself but the grip was just too strong.

Suddenly, I heard a gentle voice saying, "Susie, wake up. You're having a nightmare. Everything's alright." Slowly, I opened my eyes and saw my mum standing over my bed, smiling and holding my book in her hand. I was so relieved that Cathy's ghost hadn't been real!

One of my favourite actors is George Clooney. He is tall with dark hair and lovely brown eyes. In fact, he is very good-looking. But he is also a very nice person and cares about other people. He has strong opinions, too, and he isn't afraid to say what he thinks.

George first became famous in the TV series ER as Dr Ross. While he was still in the series, he started making lots of films as well. His films are great and last year he won an Oscar. He doesn't just star in films, though. He makes them, too!

All in all, he inspires me because he has many talents and he works hard.

The person I admire the most is my grandmother. Her name is Tina and she is 87 years old. She is a very kind person and she is very active for her age.

She used to be the manager of a café but now she has lots of hobbies. She is very good at sewing and makes clothes for all the family. Of course, she is a great cook, too. She makes her own bread and fantastic cakes. She is also good at making things with wood. She made me a table for my bedroom.

In conclusion, I really admire her because she is always active. She is never lazy and she is good at whatever she tries to do.

It was a sunny morning and I was looking forward to seeing my friends at school. So after breakfast I ran out the door to catch the bus.

As soon as I got on the bus I realised I had left my maths homework on the table. I was horrified because Miss Brady is the strictest teacher in school. When I told her what had happened she said I had to stay in class during the break to do my homework. I was all alone with nobody to talk to for the whole break.

I felt really miserable all day because I didn't get to see my friends at all.

My friend Elle and I were on holiday at a great beach resort in Spain. It was our first night at the hotel and we were too excited to sleep.

Suddenly, the fire alarm started ringing. We were absolutely terrified and ran outside. There was a big fire in the kitchen and the hotel was full of smoke. Luckily, the fire brigade put the fire out quickly but our hotel room really smelled of smoke. So we decided to sleep on the beach.

We liked the beach so much that we didn't sleep in our room at all on holiday. It was great fun.

Subject: Homework advice

Hi William,

How are you? You said you're having some problems keeping up with your homework so I think I've got some tips that might help.

First of all, the best thing to do is to organise your time. I think it would be a good idea to do your homework as soon as you get home from school. And why don't you make a list of what you have to do for each subject? I promise you it will make things much easier! Of course, you need to have some time to relax, too, but make sure you've done all your work before you go out to play football!

Well, give my ideas a try and see how it goes. I'm sure you won't regret it.

That's all for now. I hope things get better soon.

From: Leslie
Subject: Problem with parents

Hi Paula,

How are you? I'm sorry to hear you're having a difficult time with your parents. Well, I have a few ideas that might help the situation.

Firstly, I really think you should try not to argue with them. I'm sure they only want what's best for you. Why don't you try talking to them calmly? Also, it would be a good idea if you tell them that you're upset about the exam results, too. You should explain to them that you really will try harder but that you need time to see your friends and relax. How about making a plan together for when you study at home and when you can go out? I'm sure they will agree.

Well, give it a try and let me know how things work out. Good luck!

Leslie

Dear Rachel,

How are you? I'm writing to thank you for your letter and to tell you about my shopping trip last Saturday.

My friend Kirsty and I went to the shopping mall in the city centre. It's a huge, modern building and it's got loads of great shops in it. You can buy DVDs and books and fashionable clothes there.

First, we went to buy a birthday present for my sister. We got her a lovely silver ring. She'll love it. Then we went to buy some new clothes for her party next week. I got a red, polka-dot dress and Kirsty bought a denim skirt and a black, silk top. We'll look fantastic!

That's all for now. Write back soon.

Love,
Tania

Dear Jack,

How are you? I'm writing to thank you for your letter and to tell you about my shopping trip last Friday.

My friend Steve and I went to the new department store in the centre. It has different shops on every floor. It's great for computer games and sports equipment and cool clothes, too.

First I got some great PlayStation games and Steve needed some football boots. Then we bought some new clothes for the school disco. I got some black jeans and a red, checked shirt. Steve bought some purple trousers and a plain, white top. We'll be the coolest guys at the disco!

That's all for now. Write back soon.

Bye,
Gerry

Hi Danny,

Just wanted to say thanks so much for inviting me on the beach holiday. I had the best time ever!

I especially enjoyed all the water sports we did. I'd never done any before so it was a lot of fun. I'm really going to miss hanging out on the beach all day and I'll never forget what a wonderful time we had.

Hey, how about going on a camping and hiking holiday with me next summer? Let me know what you think.

Hi Jill,

I can't thank you enough for taking me with you on the skiing holiday. I wouldn't have missed it for the world!

It was fantastic learning how to ski and it was the most exciting thing I've ever done. I was a bit scared going up in the chair-lift at first but the view was spectacular. And it was great going back to the hotel for hot chocolate after skiing all day, too. It was a holiday to remember!

Do you fancy coming with me on a horse-riding holiday this summer? Let me know.

Lots of love,

Sharon

When people communicate with each other, they usually want to do it in a quick and efficient way. For this reason, many believe that sending an e-mail is the best solution. However, is sending an e-mail the best way of communicating?

Without a doubt, there are many advantages to sending e-mails. Firstly, e-mails are much faster than sending letters or even a fax. You know that as soon as you have typed and sent the e-mail, it arrives almost instantly, so you can reply right away. It's like having a conversation. Also, sending an e-mail is environmentally friendly. Since it doesn't use any paper, it never creates rubbish or waste.

On the other hand, there are some arguments against sending e-mails. For example, you can easily send it to the wrong person. Moreover, many people can send you junk mail, which can often have viruses that can damage computers.

All in all, even though sending e-mails is certainly a quick and efficient way of communicating, not everyone likes using a computer. Many people prefer writing letters and believe that it is still the best way to communicate.

Without a doubt, the Internet offers many advantages to both students and teachers. For this reason, many people believe that using the Internet in the classroom is very positive. However, does using the Internet in the classroom have any disadvantages?

Without question, there are many advantages to using the Internet in the classroom. To begin with, the Internet can be very educational. You can find a lot of useful information that can help you with your homework. In addition, it can be entertaining. There are many sites that make learning fun by offering different kinds of online games, such as grammar or maths games.

On the other hand, there are some arguments against using the Internet in the classroom. One disadvantage is that it is related to health problems. Sitting in front of the computer can strain your eyes. Furthermore, some sites are quite dangerous as they are too violent or unsuitable for children.

All in all, although there are a few disadvantages to using the Internet in the classroom, I would argue that there are more advantages overall. It is extremely convenient and a very useful source of information.

It was a dark, foggy night as I walked along the port to get to my grandad's fishing boat. I could hear the water gently hitting the sides of the boats but I couldn't see much because of the thick fog.

Suddenly, I felt very chilly and I looked ahead of me. Through the fog I could see a man waving his arms wildly. Then I realised I was really close to the water's edge and that if I'd taken another step I would have fallen into the freezing, black water. I was horrified. When I looked up again the man had disappeared.

I told my grandad what had happened when I got to his boat. He told me that the ghost of Captain Jack always appears when a sailor is in danger and that he'd saved my life. I was really shocked but very grateful, too.

TEST 1 A/B - Listening

Hi! We're the Bay Collective, a social group who organise and promote activities that take place in the Bay Shire neighbourhood. We are all volunteers who meet every Tuesday night at the Town Hall. We welcome new members, so if you're interested in joining, just turn up to a meeting!

Now, if you're stuck for things to do this weekend, you've called the right place. Here's a list of activities for Saturday 4 April and Sunday 5 April. On Saturday 4 April there are three events: At 9 am, the Longs Fitness Centre is hosting a free yoga lesson. Discover how relaxing and fun yoga can be and don't pay a penny. At midday, Al Martino's restaurant is offering Italian cooking lessons for £10 per person; this includes all ingredients and, the best part is, you get to eat your own meal! At 7 pm, the Daffodils are playing at Belmore Park to raise money for the local library. For just £2 you get to hear excellent live music and help our library buy new books and computers.

On Sunday 5 April there is one major event: From 8 in the morning until 8 at night: Clean Up and Clean Out. This is the fifth year the local council has organised a clean-up-the-neighbourhood event. We all want to live in a clean and safe environment and with a bit of help from us all, we can. Last year, over 2,000 people volunteered their time to collect rubbish, clean the streets and get rid of graffiti. For more information, log onto www.cleanupandout.com.

That's all the activities listed of 4 and 5 April. If you would like to hear this recording again, press the 'star' key on your telephone. Otherwise, enjoy your weekend!

TEST 2 A/B - Listening

F: Next, please.

M: Hi.

F: Good morning, sir. Where are you flying to?

M: Hamburg.

F: Ah. And what time is your flight?

M: Eight thirty.

F: I'm afraid, sir, that that flight is cancelled.

M: You can't be serious! What's the reason?

F: Well, there was a small problem with the plane. It had some engine trouble. So I'm afraid you'll have to wait until the next flight.

M: And what time is that?

F: Eleven forty-five.

M: Hmmm.

F: In fact, sir, you won't arrive very much later with this flight, as the eight thirty flight has a stopover in Munich.

M: So, what time will we arrive?

F: At ten to one.

M: Hmmm. That's not too bad. I have a meeting in the afternoon, you see.

F: Yes, of course. Now, sir, boarding is at eleven o'clock from Gate twenty-seven.

M: Eleven o'clock? Well, at least I've plenty of time to do some shopping!

F: That's true, sir. But be careful. Gate twenty-seven is quite a long way, so if you are planning to go to the duty free shops, make sure that you give yourself plenty of time.

M: Yes, I will.

F: So I'll check you in for that flight. Could I have your ticket and passport, please?

M: Sure. Here you are.

F: Thank you. Have you any luggage, Mr Andrews?

M: Just this briefcase. I'll take it as hand luggage, of course.

F: Are you sure it fits into an overhead locker?

M: Oh yes, yes it does.

F: That's fine, sir. Thank you. When you finish shopping, you can wait in the departure lounge until your flight is called. I'll print out all the new information for you. Here you are.

M: Thanks.

F: You're welcome. Enjoy your flight.

You will learn about the benefits of recycling and discover easy ways of recycling household products, as well as have fun with special competitions and games! Don't forget to bring as much paper, plastic, glass and aluminium cans as you can carry in order to put them in the special recycling bins arranged for the day.

To participate, just turn up! If you would like to join future events or would like more information, call 1800 324 567. Remember, every step counts when it comes to looking after the environment. See you there!

TEST 4 A/B - Listening

e.g. What does Marcia's mum want her to do first?

A: Marcia, can you come downstairs a minute, please?

B: Oh Mum! I'm really busy. I've got loads of homework to do.

A: I know that, but you should have started doing it earlier. It's your turn to wash the dishes tonight.

B: Can't Trevor do it tonight?

A: He's tidying his room at the moment. Come on! It will take 15 minutes max. Then you can do your homework afterwards.

B: Oh Mum!

51 What colour is Sonia going to paint her room?

A: I'm really bored with my bedroom so I've decided to paint it.

B: Really? But I think it's a lovely shade of yellow, Sonia.

A: Well, I'm sick of it. It's been like this for ages. I want something more ... I don't know ... happy!

B: Why don't you paint it green like it was before?

A: No. I've already chosen the colour. It's going to be blue this time.

52 Which sport does Frank want to participate in?

A: There are so many different sports on offer at the new sports centre.

B: Yes, you're right, Frank. I called in there yesterday and signed up for swimming. The pool is huge!

A: That's a good idea, but I don't think I'll have time for that.

B: They have great tennis courts too.

A: That's not really my cup of tea. I'm more of a football person. That's what I'm going to do.

53 What does Tim do to relax before exams?

A: Oh, I'm so stressed about these exams. So much depends on the results.

B: Well, you're sure to do badly if you get really stressed. Try and calm down.

A: It's easy for you to say, Tim. You've finished yours. Anyway, I've tried everything – exercise, going out with friends to the cinema – nothing works.

B: Well, when I was doing my exams last year, I was really nervous too, but you know what helped a lot?

A: What?

Tapescripts

B: A long hot bath the night before. I felt great afterwards.

54 What does Jennifer like most about the forest?

A: Oh, what a fantastic day! This was a great idea of yours, Jennifer, to go for a walk in the forest. Just breathe in that fresh air!

B: I always come here for a walk on Sundays if the weather is nice. It's just so relaxing, listening to the sound of the breeze in the trees.

A: I never knew we had such a beautiful forest in our area.

B: And you should come early in the morning when the birds are singing. It's just magical. That's the best thing.

55 What did Mike do yesterday?

A: Hey Mike, you look really suntanned. What were you up to over the weekend?

B: I had a great weekend. On Saturday, I went white-water rafting. That was some experience!

A: I'm sure it was. Those extreme sports give me a real thrill. I've even tried bungee jumping. It's brilliant. But why are you so tanned? Were you at the beach?

B: No. Yesterday, I went mountain climbing with the mountaineering club. I was out in the sun all day.

TEST 5 A/B - Listening

Entertaining at home can be great fun but it can be stressful, too. Every host wants to treat their guests to a well presented and, it goes without saying, delicious meal. I'd like to give you a few smart tips about how to be the host with the most so that you can dazzle your friends and enjoy yourself at the same time!

First of all, it's a good idea to give yourself plenty of preparation time. Don't leave things until the last minute. So, do your shopping the day before. Try to create a warm, welcoming atmosphere in your home. Lovely, fresh flowers are great. You could even get your florist to create some stunning designs for you. And don't forget to have lots of candles. Their soft, warm light will help your guests relax.

But the most important thing of all is the food! Keep it simple. Don't make anything that is too difficult – it's a recipe for disaster! Smoked salmon or prawns make a good starter and take next to no time to prepare. Remember: variety is the spice of life, so have lots of salad and fresh vegetables to go with your main meal. To end your evening, serve a good dessert and some fresh fruit.

If you don't think you can manage all this, then you can always call up one of the many catering companies listed in the phone book.

Have a go! Invite your friends around and be the centre of attention all evening.

Good luck!

TEST 6 A/B - Listening

Frank: Well, it was a fantastic day. After four long years of hard work, I was finally graduating. Everyone was very excited. They had prepared the main hall for the ceremony – that's the one behind the canteen – and it looked great. I guess we all looked rather silly because we had to attend the ceremony in full graduation dress, but I suppose everyone goes through that! I got mine from Paxmans. It was really handy because they had a counter at the university on the day.

Anyway, my parents arrived and went and found their seats. I wanted to invite my girlfriend too, but we were only allowed two guests. I suppose I owed it to my parents, really, after all the help they had given me. Thankfully, my girlfriend didn't mind!

So, there we were, waiting for the ceremony to begin. It was supposed to start at 10 am but we had to be sitting down and ready by 9:45 am.

Tapescripts

None of us could sit still! Then the microphone wasn't working and it took ages to get a replacement. We eventually started at 10:15 with a speech by the Dean of the University, Mr Daniel O'Hare. Then there were lots of other speeches by the Heads of Faculties. But, finally, it was our turn to go and collect our degrees. I remember looking at my mum as I got mine and saw the tears streaming down her face. She gets really emotional at times like these. Luckily, she had stopped crying by the time we went to have the official photos taken. They turned out really nice, actually. So, all in all, it was a brilliant day.

TEST 7 A/B - Listening

e.g. What's the weather going to be like at the weekend?

... and now onto the weekend forecast. The sunny weather we've been having over the past few days is slowly giving way to some heavy clouds. We expect low temperatures, around 5 degrees Celsius, but in spite of earlier predictions, there won't be any downpours. From next week, though, this is going to change...

42 Which gadget is Sandra NOT going to take on holiday with her?

A: Hope you're all ready and packed, Sandra. We have to leave for the airport soon.

B: Don't worry, Lee. Everything's under control.

A: By the way, I heard that there are lots of mosquitoes there. I hope you packed the repellent.

B: That was the first thing I put in my suitcase. And because I always get confused over the exchange rate, I'm also taking my converter.

A: Are the plugs the same over there as they are here? I want to take my hairdryer.

B: Yes, they are the same so I'm not taking my adaptor.

43 What kind of holiday does Nicola want to go on?

A: Hi Nicola. Have you booked your holiday yet?

B: No, I haven't got around to it. Why?

A: Well, I've decided to go on this great trekking holiday in the mountains. Would you like to come with me?

B: That's not really my cup of tea. This year, I'm thinking of going on a nice sun, sea and sand holiday.

A: Won't you be bored?

B: Not at all! After last year's disastrous camping holiday, I'm only interested in comfort from now on!

44 What time does the flight leave?

A: I'm so excited about our trip to Spain. I hope we don't miss the plane!

B: Of course we won't miss it. But we must make sure that we check in at ten to six. The flight's at ten to eight.

A: Oh, I thought the flight left at ten to ten.

B: No, silly. That's the arrival time in Madrid!

A: Oops!

TEST 8 A/B - Listening

Sandy: HEY PAT! HOW ARE YOU ENJOYING THE PARTY?

Pat: I CAN'T HEAR A WORD YOU'RE SAYING. LET'S GO OUTSIDE... That's better. Goodness! That noise was deafening.

Sandy: Well, parties are supposed to be noisy, Pat. Otherwise I wouldn't call it a party.

Pat: I guess so, but I find it really hard to take. I don't like loud noise at all. I never go to discos, for example.

Sandy: Don't you? I love loud music. It sounds so much better when you play it loud. I always have my iPod on a high volume.

Pat: But you'll ruin your hearing, Sandy. It's hardly worth it.

Tapescripts

Sandy: Oh, lighten up, Pat. It can't be that dangerous to listen to a bit of loud music every now and then.

Pat: You might not realise it now but...

Sandy: WHAT DID YOU SAY, PAT?

Pat: I SAID...

Sandy: I heard exactly what you said, Pat. I was only joking. My hearing is fine!

Pat: Well, don't say I didn't warn you when you discover your hearing is really bad when you're older.

Sandy: OK. Seriously now, I suppose you're right. I'll turn my iPod down a little in the future.
