

Thank you for your enquiry,

This will only be done in August/September for 2022 academic year as 2021 is full.

NDP application process for Psychology at Unisa;

- The student must obtain a permission letter from the department of Psychology (Ms Thwala) and apply on-line for admission to Hons, (even if the student know they do not qualify for direct admission)
- The College of Graduate Studies (who administer the applications for admission and registrations for the Hons qualifications) will then decline the admission records to the relevant academic department.
- Depending on the decision from the academic department, CGS will then change the admission qualification from Hons to NDP, 00035, and will inform the student on the module(s) to register.

A graduate may qualify for Honours in Psychology by completing the following modules for non-degree purposes qualification code-00035:

PYC1501, PYC1502
PYC2601, PYC2602 or PYC2603, RSC2601
PYC3701, PYC3702, PYC3703, PYC3704, PYC3705.

In order to be considered for our BA Honours (Psychology) degree, you would need to obtain an average of 60% for all your Psychology III modules and NB: should you not obtain the 60% on your first attempt NO second opportunity will be given to repeat third year modules.

Next application circle would be somewhere in August/September 2021.
